On The Record

We intend to make it very plain beforehand that Public Safety will use everything at its disposal to handle alcohol policy violations, up to and including arrest.
Lewis Wardell, assistant director of Public Safety, on the new alcohol policy.

We cannot ignore that diversity includes religious groups and sexual orientation. It would be short-sighted to think otherwise.
Linda Capers, program coordinator for the Office of Intercultural Affairs.

We're all vulnerable.
Chief Robert Dean of Public Safety, speaking to students on being aware of one's surroundings at all times, on campus or off campus.

It's not a black-and-white decision. It's impossible to say if they made the right decision or not. On balance, however, they probably did the right thing.
Katherine Fulto, lecturer at the Terry Sanford Institute of Public Policy, on the decision to post the Unabomber's manifesto in The Washington Post.

The black faculty initiative... puts off the day when race will cease to matter at Duke University.
John Staddon, professor of experimental psychology, at Thursday's Academic Council meeting.

I can say that I've learned over the past three months more about life than I have in the past 22 years.
Sterling Lanier, Trinity '95, on the work involved in opening the Cosmic Cantina.

There is very little about this University of which I actually have a personal knowledge. Most of the decisions here are made by other people.
President Nan Keohane to members of the DSG legislature on her role as President.

We as the student body have to be responsible for community life.
Trinity senior Peggy Cross, president of Duke Student Government, on recent concerns raised about the quality of campus social life.

The American Public is at the point where they are just tuning in.
Democratic pollster Peter Hart, on the fact that 37 percent of the American public does not know there is a presidential election in 1996.

It was just a bad, bad football game.
Duke head football coach Fred Goldsmith on the team's 30-9 loss to Navy last Saturday night.

This case irreparably harmed the judicial system... In fact, this case played to people's worst nightmares.
Charlie Carpenter, a Durham attorney, on the verdict in the O.J. Simpson trial.

The intent of the alcohol policy is to have a procedure which does not require interpretation.
Trinity senior Mayling Mah, chair of the Undergraduate Judicial Board.

It is hard to believe that the disease finally beat him, because he never believed it could.
English professor Ron Butters, on the death of his colleague Edward Hill Wednesday due to complications associated with the AIDS virus.

This is sort of a catharsis of souls.
Oscar McCoy, a special education teacher from Philadelphia, Pa., on Monday's Million Man March in Washington, D.C.

The fact that the Chapel will bless cows and pigs but not committed, loving gay relationships is beyond my comprehension.
Trinity senior Seth Persily, president of DGBLA, on Duke Chapel's current policy of not permitting gay unions.

As I sat in the sunlight and the heat... it wasn't important that I didn't understand much of what was being said, because I did understand it. I felt the feelings of what was being said, the feelings of Israelis, the sorrow as we sang hatikvah.
Trinity junior Jeff Epstein, who is currently studying at Tel Aviv University in Israel, on what he felt at a memorial service for Yitzhak Rabin.

Some say homosexuality and sports are not supposed to mix—I showed them.
Gold-medal winning Olympic diver Greg Louganis, on homophobia within the sports world.

Culture is not something that should tear us apart—it should bring us together.
Trinity sophomore Alicia Overstreet, on campus race relations.

Duke doesn't want 'Good Morning, America' to see a march like Take Back the Night because it would give the rest of the world the notion that Duke has a problem with sexual violence and [then] Duke's not seen as the Gothic Wonderland.
Trinity sophomore Dana Glazer, on the rerouting of Wednesday night's march.

If journalists had been around 2000 years ago, someone had said, we would have covered the crucifixion and missed Christianity.
Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist William Raspberry, Knight Professor of Communications and Journalism, on modern media's negative focus.

There are times when America—and America alone—can and should make the difference for peace.
President Clinton, in Monday's speech concerning the deployment of 20,000 American troops to Bosnia.

It's just impossible to get around. There's no reasonably easy way for me to walk from my dorm to the main quad without ice skates and ski poles.
Trinity senior Kathy Mills on the icy conditions on campus.

Short of death, this is one of the most heinous crimes we've ever seen.
Assistant Durham District Attorney Marcia Morey, on Markey Wilson, who was convicted of the Sept. 2 rape, assault, kidnapping and armed robbery of two University students.

He looks like your typical bookworm type. This doesn't look like somebody who wants to be in jail very long.
Prosecuting attorney in rare map theft case Jim Camblos, on alleged map thief, Joseph Gilbert Barnes.

If it's possible to love a university, I guess I love Duke University.
Former University Vice Provost and Director of the African-American Studies program George Wright, who recently took a permanent position as provost of the University of Texas at Arlington.

Once we step on the court, it's all friendships and fun aside. It's Duke versus North Carolina and it's a battle-- and you have to go into that battle looking for a win.
Duke guard Steve Wojciechowski, on tonight's game and the rivalry.

Every Duke student that comes in here thinks he's God's gift to creativity, and they don't all write as well as they should.
History professor John Richards, chair of the Academic Affairs Committee of the Arts and Sciences Council, on the value of the University Writing Program.

We are absolutely sick and tired of seeing poor African-American women coming into our clinic. In some clinics, 97 percent of children are African-American.
Chris Weedy, leader of an HIV-support group in Raleigh, on the alarming increase of minority women being diagnosed as HIV-positive and noting the need for public health intervention.

It's horrifying. It's tragic. I can't imagine the pain the people are going through, the fear, and the horror of living with that every day.
Frances Fischer, director of Hillel, on the recent bombings in Israel.

This wasn't the way we were capable of playing... Today we just weren't on the same page.
Freshman Taymon Domzalski on Duke's first round NCAA loss to Eastern Michigan.

I'm very proud of the players for the effort they gave in the last nine and a half minutes of the game when we were down 20 points. But 10 minutes of great basketball at this point in time is not going to get you to the Sweet Sixteen.
Coach Gail Goestenkors, on the women's basketball team's 64-60 second round NCAA loss to the University of San Francisco.

If we want to reunify, it must be from mutual respect and mutual willingness... Otherwise it is like rape.
Anti-Chinese aggression protest spokesperson and graduate student Chi-Ru Chang, on current relations between China and Taiwan.

We have the right to expect that the academic community will value education in the way that they have articulated to us.
Engineering senior Bob Hostetter, a founder of Undergraduate Students for Excellence in Education, on the reasoning behind the protest sparked by the denial of tenure to Timothy Jacobs, an assistant professor of civil environmental engineering.

I think it's exemplary... I know a lot of people who have their favorite dining service employees, and I think it's a good thing.
Raj Goyle, co-coordinator of Student-Employee Relations Committee, on the quality of service provided by employees of Duke Dining.

Twelve meals a week at the same place is insane.
Trinity freshman John Mack, on the mandatory freshman board plan at the Marketplace.

Never underestimate the capability of Helms to come up with powerful negative advertising— even if he were running against Jesus.
David Paletz, assistant professor of political science, on the campaign techniques of North Carolina Senator Jesse Helms.

Those are merely the skills of human sympathy, the skills for letting another creature know that his or her concern is honored and valued and that, whether a cure is likely or not, all possible efforts will be expended to achieve that aim or to ease incurable agony toward its welcome end. i am not an angry girl. but it seems like i've got everyone fooled. everytime i say something they find hard to hear, they chalk it up to my anger and never to their own fear.

i am not a pretty girl. i don't really want to be a pretty girl. i want to be more than a pretty girl.

-Ani Difranco

Dukes and Duchesses

Dukes and Duchesses is a group of student representatives dedicated to serving the University's Trustees, President, Faculty and Visitors. It was founded on the belief that bringing undergraduates into contact with university affiliates would be beneficial to the Duke community.

DUKE UNIVERSITY UNION

"The Duke University Union serves as a leadership training ground for its officers, chairs and committee members. Through experimental learning, they develop knowledge and appreciation of professionalism and the fundamental management skills of effective motivation, organization, and communication."

-Duke University Union Mission Statement

1995-1996

The first time in over forty years of Union history that the programming organization was led by three women.

AIDS ACTIVISTS

CO-FOUNDERS OF C.A.R.E.

"We are not now that strength which in old days moved earth and heaven; that which we are, we are; one equal temper of heroic hearts, made weak by time and fate, but strength in will to strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield."

-Alfred Lord Tennyson, Ulysses

SHAVAR JEFFERIES

YOUNG TRUSTEE

"If there is no struggle, there is no progress. Those who profess to favor freedom and yet deprecate agitation, are those who want crops without plowing the ground, they want rain without thunder and lightning, they want the ocean without the awful roar of its many waves. This struggle may be a moral one, or it may be a physical one, and it may be both moral and physical, but it must be a struggle. Power concedes nothing without a demand. It never did, and it never will."

Matthew Gidney drew the cartoon that appears on page 169.

Special thanks to: The Goldmans and the Tarlowes, Tom and Denise Adams, Blaze Hayes, Kristen Ellerbe, Jakki Davis, Tootsie Wilkins, Sue Coon, Fannie Castillo, Lou-Ann Martin-Rogers, Barbara Copeland, Duke Sports Information, The Chronicle, Richard O'Dor, Bridget Booher, Drew Crevello, Rani Croager, Garrick Stewart, and all of our friends.

A very special thanks to our advisor, Pauline Myers, Assistant Dean of University Life, for all of her help and encouragement.

The 1996 chanticleer was printed by Jostens Printing and Publishing, of Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Senior portraits were taken by Strawbridge Studios, Durham, North Carolina. The cover of the 1996 chanticleer is Brown Loredo Leathertone, with black silkscreen and copper hot foil applications. The endsheets are 80lb. Soapstone. The chanticleer uses two types of paper, 90lb. Eloquence and 80 lb. MOE. All color photos are 4-color, produced from color transparencies. The divider pages were created with Adobe Photoshop and black and white photos, printed in spot color with gloss and matte varnish. All black and white photos were 175/line screened laser-scanned halftones using a Fuji Scanart II.
